Warren Lehot, a student leader, has been chosen chairman of the graduation committee. Warren has been active in the student body and has been a member of the committee for several years.

Students Receive Selling Certificates

Students who have sold a total of 100 copies of the yearbook will receive a selling certificate. The certificates will be presented by the registrar.

BJC Service Club Holds Study Period

The BJC Service Club held their first study period Wednesday evening, May 14, in room 201, under the direction of their advisor, Dr. Robert Gardner, who gave the group suggestions on study habits and techniques. With final exams coming up, the "graduates" of this short course, hope for improved methods of studying.

BJC Language Clubs Sponsor Afternoon Picnic

A picnic was held recently at Julia Davis Park by the French, German and Spanish clubs of BJC. Instrumental in planning the event were Dr. Robert de Neufville and Mrs. Camille Cramer, language instructors.

Registrar's Notice

Students who wish second semester grade cards, should leave a stamped, self-addressed envelope at the receptionist's desk in the registrar's office.

Yearbook To Be Distributed May 23

Students desiring copies of the yearbook may obtain them in room 116, beginning May 23, 1958, according to Jean Robinette, assistant editor, in charge of distribution.

Annual prices are: Pictured students with activity tickets, free; unpictured students with activity tickets, $1.50; second semester students with activity tickets, $1.00; students with no picture and no activity ticket, $4.00; faculty, $3.00.

Students are required to have their receipts for pictures with them.

Due to a limited supply it is advisable to obtain your copy as soon as possible.

JC Commencement Features Dr. Charles J. Armstrong

BJC's 26th annual commencement exercises to be held June 1, in the college gymnasium, will feature Dr. Charles Johnstone Armstrong, president of Pacific university at Forest Grove, Oregon, as the guest speaker whose topic will be "The Forward Look."

Dr. Armstrong acquired his A.B. degree with first class honors in classics at the University of British Columbia in 1932. A year later he attended the same university on a graduate fellowship, then continued his graduate study at Harvard on a Harvard university scholarship. In 1939 he earned his Ph.D. in classical philosophy at Harvard in 1936.

He has taught in Rollins college, Florida, Dartmouth college, Brown university, Providence, R.I., and (Continued on page 3)

Pre-nursing Tests Set For Summer

It was announced today by Dr. John Phillips' office that the next pre-nursing tests will be given on the following dates:

On June 7, the psychological cooperation test will be given, and on June 21 and August 16, the National League for Nursing tests will be given. These tests are taken by candidates who wish to enter schools of nursing in the fall.

The tests are set up and scored by two non-profit organizations which serve in the interest of nursing education. They are then used for guidance in the selection of candidates for nursing. Application for participation in the pre-nursing tests may be made through Dr. Phillips' Office.

BJC Women Elect New AWS Officers

The Associated Women Students organization on campus has elected its officers for next year, it was announced by Joan Emory, this year's president.

Sue Hopping will take the responsibilities as AWS president for the coming year. Treasurer is Kay Rife, and Jan Gantner is the new social chairman. Sophomore representatives are Sandra Dean and Lorraine Cronk. Mrs. Genevieve Turnpseed, dean of women, is the advisor.

The membership of the club is composed of the entire female population of the BJC campus. The club's activities include the spring tea for high school girls, and the annual Sweethearts' ball in February.

Summer School Addition

A piano class will be held during the first term of the BJC summer session, June 9 to July 11.

The classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday each week from 3:00-4:00 p.m., for which one hour credit will be allowed.

The fee will be $12.00, plus a tuition fee of $7.50 per credit hour.

Not less than four, and not more than six students will be permitted in a class.

IN OUR OPINION . . .

In this, the final issue of the Roundup, the staff would like to take the opportunity to express gratitude for the cooperation and assistance they have received in publishing the college paper each week.

Thanks to President Eugene B. Chaffee for his sound editorial comment and his genuine interest in our publication.

Thanks to Vice President W. L. Gottenberg for the benefit of his many years of experience and his willingness to help and advise us in every possible way.

Thanks to Dean A. H. Chatburn and the entire BJC faculty for their encouragement and cooperative attitude.

Thanks to Mr. Frank Carr, our photographer, and Mr. Alvin Hansen and his printing staff for a professional knowhow in getting this paper out each week.

Thanks are also in order for the Boise businessmen for the interest and support they have shown through their advertising in the Roundup.

Very special thanks go to Dr. Robert Gardner, our advisor. We owe much to his patience and understanding, which have pulled us through the rough spots.

Of course, we could not forget the students themselves, our readers who have made our efforts worth while.

Thanks, everyone!

METHODS OF ADVERTISING

Mr. Gene Swanson (right) of Syns-York company is shown above during his recent lecture to Mr. Robert Rose's advertising class, on the subject of typography, the history of printing and its application to advertising today. Previous speakers were Mr. Virgil Parker on the subject of advertising photography, and Al Harrows, Al Spaulding and Gordon Eichenman formed a panel on the use of local media for advertising in the Boise area. The Boise Ad club was responsible for inaugurating the visiting lecture series at BJC.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What can be done with $1000? is open to the public and have two members of the band, who in the opinion of several students of music at BJC had difficulty reading stock arrangements, is like paying to hear Frank Sinatra sing, with lumbur pneumonia.

The $100 could have been used to hire a bigger and, in our estimation, a far better band. The $600 that could have been left, would have supplied a few students who were in need of finances - the means to continue their education.

Before continuing, it would be well to say that we do not minimize the importance of social life at college. But is it logical to pay $1000 just for a mediocre "name" band when approximately one-third of the amount would have been sufficient to secure the services of a comparable or superior organization?

There are students today who have been forced to cut short their studies or who are forced to work long hours at a job which cut deep into their study time because of financial difficulties. Why couldn't that money, in excess of necessary minimum, have been used to provide some of the funds for these people to obtain an education or to lighten their financial burden.

The name Gib Hochstrasser is undoubtedly familiar to many readers of the Roundup. This band that performed at the annual jazz concert is, and was, available for dance jobs.

Granted, it isn't a name band, but neither is Tony Pastor considered an outstanding name this year. But for a "name" band to come into a city for a dance which is open to the public and have two members of the band, who in the opinion of several students of music at BJC had difficulty reading stock arrangements, is like paying to hear Frank Sinatra sing, with lumbur pneumonia.

There are members of the Hochstrasser band who have worked with better-known name bands than Tony Pastor, and have settled in the area. Take for example Sam Schickling, a former member of the Billy May organization and who is now with the Hochstrasser band. Also with Hochstrasser is Louie Ventrillo, a former arranger for the band of Duke Ellington. But, excuse me, I forgot, of course it is only local talent - people don't want to see a band that swings, but will pay for a NAME, and pay dearly.

Have we lost perspective? Has the goal of college become distorted? The social value derived and retained from the "Spring Formal" is not the result of a "big name" but the personal interpretation of the 252 couples that attended.

We believe that Gib's 18-piece band would have been not only adequate, but judging by the performance at the jazz concert, it would have surprised the audience.

From a business standpoint, we do not feel that the investment expended on the spring formal justified the result.

From the standpoint of the students who could have been given scholarships, we feel the expenditure was poor judgment.

From a musician's standpoint, we are bewildered.

BJC has, we feel, in this instance, gone overboard and has not lived up to its obligations to its students, the community and college traditions.

Think about it for a while.

It is our hope that in the future common sense will dictate BJC's ventures into the social life and emphasis will be placed on the job the band does, rather than the "name" it flaunts.

Charles Hervey
Alan Crooks

We would like to make a reply to the students who were complaining about the spring formal and the funds that were appropriated for it.

First of all, the social committee is given 7.5% of the student body funds to spend as they see fit on the six big dances of the year. This is really a very small percentage when you realize that the athletic department receives 27.64 per cent of the funds, and the publications department receives 30.17 per cent. Any money that is left remaining after the school

CAMPUS QUIZ

By Thomas J. ...
Question: What is the only thing you've heard recently?

Nancy Gibbon: I think the nicest thing I've heard recently when the gentlemen from the dorm decided that the girls needed swimming lessons proceeded to give them lessons dropping them into the ditch. Some of the girls were prised.

Nolan Rheas: I like the barber and the barber formed a band and played but the clip-sew music.

Larry Thompson: I like about the latest game played on the farm play. They're opposite ends of the barn run toward each other - one that turns in a loop.

Allyn Malone: I think about the latest discovery in the insect kingdom. It's called the bee bug. Seems this one always sneaking up on you crying "boo-bee."

The scholarships were awarded on the basis of grade point average, outside activities, need and future plans for schooling and careers.

BJC Secretarial Classes Hear Personnel Speaker

Mrs. Mamie Pierce of the Eells Placement Agency in Boise, has spoken to several secretarial business classes during the past few weeks, announced Mrs. Helen Johnson, business instructor.

Mrs. Pierce gave pointers on how to get a job, and how to keep a job.

"Do not wear full skirts and crinolines to an interview, do not get too friendly with fellow workers, and keep your salary confidential" were some of the pointers Mrs. Pierce gave to the students.

She urged all the students to get a four-year college education if at all possible.

Student Receives Achievement Award

Dana Wildig has won this year's Wall Street Journal student achievement award in business administration. She was selected on the basis of scholarship, activities, business ability and personality.

The award consists of a specially designed silver medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Dana is a graduating sophomore and is a member of the Golden Z's, as well as being Union night chairman, a member of the social committee and chairman of the Crusade for Freedom at BJC. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wildig of 112 East Idaho in Boise.

Weber Dethrones BJC as IC In Conference Meet Held In

The Weber Wildcats dethroned the Boise Broncos when they edged past BJC in the conference meet held in Boise last May 10.

College of Southern Utah nailed down third place, with Ricks, Snow and Dixie finishing next in order.

Boise's Louie Thorne was the outstanding man in the meet. He broke two conference records and walked off with the title of individual high scorer.

Thorne started off by cracking the high hurdles in a time of 15.0, and breaking the old record of 15.3. Louie then began to pour on the steam as he ran the low hurdles in a blazing 24.2, deflating the old record of 24.8 set by a Mesa hurdler.

Louie started to rake in some points as he placed third in the 220 and ran anchor man on the winning mile relay team.

Right behind Thorne in the victory column were Herman Noblisse and Larry Burleson.

Noblisse, BJC's speedster, won the 100-yard dash in a fast 10.00.

Burleson helped the cause along as he flipped the shotput 43' 11 1/2", which was good enough for a first place. He added further points to the Boise score when he finished third in the discus.

King Dalton, after leading all the way, was dash to the top in the 440 yard fourth.

Dalton also in the 880 yard relay.

Other points Dale Duffy, who in the high jump fifth in the high jump who nailed down the mile run, who took a third BJC picked up the javelin as John Kopta placed fourth spots.

SPORTS REVIEW

By Dave Murdock

This year's in sports, has been a very successful one for BJC. The Broncos romped and stomped all year long.

As in other years, Coach Lyle Smith and his coaching staff turned out a formidable grid machine which rolled over opponent after opponent until they roared through the entire regular season without a loss.

Coach Smith's Broncos were really flying high as they took a long plane trip to Bakersfield, Cal. where they faced a strong Bakersfield Junior college in the Potato Bowl.

The Bakersfield club took advantage of a couple of breaks early in the game to defeat the Broncos from Boise 27-13.

As the highlight of the season, was over Coach George Blankley two of the BJC gridders became had his round-ball boys pounding Junior All-Americans. They were up and down the courts in preparation for the impending basketball season.

In addition to two Junior All-Americans several of the Broncos were all-conference selections. When the heat of the conference race was over and the season ended, the smoke cleared away and we found Boise sitting in the second position on the conference totem pole with Weber squatting proudly above them.

From rumors flying around the campus on who's coming back next year, it'll be a safe bet that the football team of next year will be just as strong if not stronger.

The team will have their work cut out for them next year, as their schedule includes two top California teams, plus two tough Washington teams, and a team by Louie Thorne, BJC's record-breaking hurdler.

This year's track squad was led by Louie Thorne, BJC's record-breaking hurdler. Thorne, along with Herman Noblisse, Larry Burleson and King Dalton, consistently rolled in the points for Coach Ray Lewis.

Three fourths of the earth's surface is water and only one fourth is land. It's clear that it was intended that man should spend three times as much time fishing as plowing.
